Rules for choosing furniture

Whether living on your own or with a family, your living room is an important space.

This room is where your family spends time together, and it is the room most of your guests will spend the majority of their time in. Choosing furniture that creates a pleasant, welcoming appearance while holding up against the wear and tear of everyday life is the key in getting this space to work for your needs.

- Choose items in a single color scheme and style
- Consider the area of the room
- Do not buy unnecessary pieces of furniture
